How many uses of "Clinical" "Forensic" and "Expert" per inch of resume? Why do I get the impression this individual may not take kindly to criticism or disagreement from the non-PhD, non-Clinical and non-Forensic (but rather, maybe just, field and personal experience) public — especially when it comes to such clinical psychological terms as "Alienation" ?? Does the presence (or absence) of a PhD invalidate an argument? Does the presence of one settle objections from the rabble who may not buy terms, however clinical-sounding, which are used to discredit criminal activity by individuals?
