About the GET Conference

For the past six years, this event has explored the frontiers of understanding about human biology. It serves as an annual forum to debate the technical, commercial, and societal impacts of advances in our ability to measure and understand people and their traits.

The GET Conference is produced by PersonalGenomes.org, a 501(c)(3) charitable organization based in the United States whose mission is to make a wide spectrum of human biological information accessible and actionable to increase biological literacy and improve human health. We support groundbreaking initiatives including the Global Network of Personal Genome Projects, Open Humans and the GET Conference.

Sessions

We will explore this and more across several sessions:

- Integrated Personal Omics Profiles, chaired by Mike Snyder, Stanford
- Microbiomes, Health, & Built Environment, chaired by Rob Knight, UCSD
- AI & Medical Research, chaired by Joi Ito, MIT Media Lab
- Networked Biology, chaired by Corrie Painter, Broad Institute

About GET Labs + Expo

The GET Conference is preceded by a uniquely interactive event on April 25th called GET Labs + Expo, (separate registration required).

Sign-up for GET Labs and you can experience the best participatory health research studies around today and advance human health through direct participation in up to 17 different studies.
